Millennium Pharmaceuticals, The Takeda Oncology Company,

a biopharmaceutical company based in Cambridge, Massachusetts with a leading oncology product, is committed to making a difference for patients, their families and healthcare providers. At Millennium, we understand the critical role that the academic, medical and patient advocacy communities play; not only in the discovery and development of new medicines, but also in ensuring that the right drug is used effectively to treat the right patient at the right time.

With that in mind, we're proud to support programs that advance the educational objectives of healthcare professionals and help them provide quality care to their patients. Through educational grants and charitable donations, we provide education and support to healthcare professionals, patients and patient advocacy groups. We also support independent scientific and professional development initiatives geared toward making improvements in patient care.

This brochure is intended to provide you with information on how to request these types of funding from Millennium Corporate Giving.

Educational Grants

Millennium will consider requests from qualified institutions including hospitals, universities, and patient advocacy organizations, to provide financial support for high quality patient or healthcare professional education. Educational programs that address the treatment of hematologic cancers, such as multiple myeloma and mantle cell lymphoma, are of a particular focus. Examples of the types of educational programs that Millennium will consider providing support for include: accredited continuing medical education programs, grand rounds, tumor boards, and/or journal clubs. Millennium will also consider requests for funding to educate the public, patients, residents, interns or fellows on disease states and medical conditions, again with a focus on oncology and hematologic cancers.

Charitable Donations

Millennium will consider requests to provide charitable donations to 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(6) tax-exempt organizations, including donations for patient education, patient support activities, or general fundraising activities for organizations that benefit patients, families, or caregivers.

Scientific & Professional Development Grants

Millennium will consider requests to support independent scientific and developmental activities including: research initiatives (outside of clinical trials), young investigator awards, educational support for medical residents, fellows and trainees, and subsidies for independent, third-party educational and professional meetings.

Grant Guidelines

In accordance with the guidelines of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), Millennium does not influence or control the content of any educational program it supports. In addition, Millennium will only consider providing support for programs that are balanced and scientifically rigorous.

Any type of funding provided by Millennium may not be tied, in any way, to past, present, or future prescribing, purchasing, or recommending for prescribing or purchasing, any Millennium drug.

Millennium's policies are consistent with the PhRMA Code and, as such, sales representatives and marketing contacts do not have access to grant information. If you wish to check the status of your application, please login to your account at www.millenniumcorporategiving.com or contact us at corporategiving@mpi.com.

You may submit an educational grant, charitable donation or scientific and professional development grant request by completing the online application at: www.millenniumcorporategiving.com.

Submitting a Request

Requests will only be accepted for consideration by Millennium through www.millenniumcorporategiving.com and must be submitted at least 30 days in advance of the program start date.

To ensure your grant request is reviewed and processed in a timely manner, the following documentation should be attached to your online application

- Letter of request
- Agenda or list of topic(s) to be covered
- Needs assessment and/or program objectives
- Detailed budget
- Signed and dated W-9 document with federal tax ID
- 501(c)(3) or 501(c)(6) designation letter, if applicable

Further details on the information required are provided during the online application process.

Requests will not be reviewed until all of the required information has been provided. Please allow a minimum of 30 days for processing.

What types of programs are outside the scope of Millennium Corporate Giving?

Millennium is not able to provide support for the following types of requests:

- Grants that would be payable to an individual healthcare professional or physician practice
- Travel grants for licensed healthcare professionals
- Grant requests for education that is routine and/or a required part of medical training, e.g. textbooks, journal subscriptions, or materials for Board Reviews
- Clinical Trials, including Investigator Initiated Studies (Call 1-800-589-9005 for these requests)
- Display/Exhibit Fees (These requests should be forwarded to your Millennium Sales Representative or to displays@mpi.com.)

If you have any questions about the online application or about the types of programs for which Millennium can provide funding, please contact us at corporategiving@mpi.com.
